CBA Bargaining Update: Negotiations resume September 12

Since pausing negotiations in June, six working groups made up of representatives from the union and employer side have been working to develop recommendations around new certifications, occupational health and safety, decolonizing the collective agreement and more. This work will now help streamline the bargaining process as the committee heads back to the table on September 12.

As bargaining resumes, it's more important than ever that we have up-to-date contact information for all Community Health members – particularly in the event that we cannot reach an agreement with HEABC and have to take a strike vote. You can update your information here: <https://www.hsabc.org/contact/member-contact-update-form>

If you know of any of your co-workers who are not receiving these updates from our union, please ask them to update their information.
