

Cheryl Greenhalgh

I care deeply about the Health Sciences Association and would be honored to represent Region 3 Members as Director for another two years.

I have held an active role in the union for all of the many years I've been a member. I carried a picket sign as a newly graduated Medical Radiation Technologist. Shortly thereafter I became a union steward and organized the picket lines and essential services in subsequent job actions.

Over the years I have served HSA members in numerous elected roles including Chief Steward, Member-at-Large, Director and Bargaining Committee member. I am currently the elected Secretary-Treasurer of HSA. I am proud of the work I continue to do as a steward, representing members in several departments at Royal Columbian Hospital.

My personal interests include practical grass-roots involvement in local, provincial and federal politics. I participate actively in my local community of New Westminster, holding positions on several local boards, including the New Westminster Hospice Society. I enjoy traveling with my family and cooking with friends.

As I write this, I don't know who the other candidate(s) in this election might be. It's impossible to tell you that I am the best choice but I promise that I am a very experienced choice and that I have a strong understanding of the labour movement. I feel fortunate that my years representing members has taken me into a wide variety of departments and worksites, giving me a strong understanding of our diverse professions.

I truly believe that the professional work done by HSA members is essential to the healthcare of British Columbians and I am fiercely proud of our work. I pledge that if re-elected as your Regional Director, I will be an outspoken advocate for the work and rights of the many professional groups that collectively form HSA.
